

ArchDaily News Travelbox Combines Essentials for Living In A Portable Box

Travelbox Combines Essentials for Living In A Portable Box

13:20 - 8 May, 2015 | by Karissa Rosenfield

Save this article

Share Tweet Save

Permitting travel on a budget, the architects of Juust have designed a compact "Travelbox" that consolidates all the essentials - bike, bed, table, chair and storage. Beautifully constructed from wood and clad in aluminum, the clever arrangement brings the comfort of home to wherever life may lead you.

"In its closed position it is rigid, efficient, and ready to endure the inevitable bumps of international travel. Upon arrival the Travelbox can be unfolded to instantly transform your new abode into a comfortable home," says Juust.

RECOMMENDED FOR YOU

Forget Treehouses - Cliffhouses are the Future

Must-See Architectural Wonders During Your Travels

Micro-Apartments: Are Expanding Tables and Folding Furniture a Solution to Inequality?

ARCASIA TRAVEL PRIZE 2018: KUMIKI

MORE ARCHITECTURE NEWS

Community Central Pavilion: A Momentary Structure to Collect Seismic Waves in Mexico

4 Projects That Show Mass Timber is the Future of American Cities

Kozlowski + Cardia Design Floating Tree Branch Pavilion for Expo 2020

More Architecture News >

MOST VISITED

Modernism: The International Style that Wasn't

The 20 Largest Cities in the World of 2018